

Sharon Irwin

Sharon is Headteacher at Oxspring and started in post in September 2014. She is a member of all the schools' committees.

Prior to starting at Oxspring, Sharon was previously Deputy Headteacher at Springvale Primary School, as well as spending some of her time in post there as Acting Headteacher.

Sharon has extensive experience of teaching across the primary age range. She has also worked for Barnsley local authority twice, once as a Primary National Strategy Consultant and then as a School Improvement Officer. During her work with the local authority, Sharon provided teaching and learning support for schools across the borough as well as leading on professional development opportunities for primary school staff.

Sharon is passionate about ensuring that the children at Oxspring have the right to the very best education, through a range of stimulating and exciting experiences, which will equip them well for their adult lives ahead. She is also very keen to maintain the strong sense of community which pervades Oxspring Primary School.
